

IMPORTANT: Investment involves risk, including the loss of principal. Investors should refer to the Prospectus and Key Facts Statement of Premia FTSE TWSE Taiwan 50 ETF ("ETF") for details, including the risk factors. Investors should not base investment decisions on this marketing material alone. Investors should note:

- The ETF aims to provide investment results that, before fees and expenses, closely correspond to the performance of FTSE TWSE Taiwan 50 30% Capped Index USD (NTR) ("Index"). There can be no assurance that the ETF will achieve its investment objective.
- Taiwan concentration risk - The ETF's investments are concentrated in Taiwan which is an emerging market and a greater portion of its assets may be represented in a single Security or smaller group of Securities. The value of an individual Security or particular type of Security can be more volatile than, and can perform differently from, the market as a whole. This leads to a higher concentration risk than funds following a more diversified policy and cause greater fluctuations in the value of the ETF.
- Index concentration risk - The Index may have only a limited number of index constituents. The Index would be more easily affected by the price movements of any one index constituent than an index which has a larger number of index constituents, and the performance of the ETF is more dependent on and affected by the share prices of a limited number of issuers.
- Political and economic risks - There is a lower level of government supervision and enforcement activity in the regulation of the Taiwan securities market compared to those in more developed markets.
- Government intervention risk - There may be substantial government intervention in the economy, including restrictions on investment in companies or industries deemed sensitive to relevant national interests. Foreign investment made directly into Taiwan is permitted under the "Regulations Governing Investment in Securities by Overseas Chinese and Foreign Nationals" and relevant foreign exchange settlement procedures.
- Foreign exchange risk and other currency distributions risk - Underlying investments of the ETF are primarily denominated in New Taiwan Dollar, therefore foreign exchange risk exists between the Base Currency and the underlying investments currency. Also, the ETF's Base Currency is in USD but has Listed Distribution Units traded in HKD. The NAV of the ETF may be affected unfavourably by fluctuations in the exchange rates between these currencies and the Base Currency and by changes in exchange rate controls.
- Risks of investing in FDIs/unfunded swap transaction(s) - The ETF's synthetic representative sampling sub-strategy will involve investing up to 50% of its NAV in FDIs, which will only be direct investment in unfunded total return swap transaction(s) through one or more counterparty(ies). Other than swaps, the ETF may also invest in other FDIs such as forwards for hedging purposes. As such, the ETF may suffer significant losses if a swap counterparty fails to perform its obligations, or in case of insolvency or default of the counterparty(ies).
- Difference in Distribution Policy - The Manager will pay distributions to Unitholders of the Listed Distribution Units but not to Unitholders of the Listed Accumulation Units. Distributions made in respect of the Listed Distribution Units may result in an immediate reduction in the NAV per Unit of the Listed Distribution Units. All income and capital gain received in the Listed Accumulation Units will be reinvested and reflected in the NAV per Unit of the Listed Accumulating Units. The difference in the distribution policies of the two classes will lead to difference in the NAV between the two classes.
- Securities Lending Transactions Risk - Securities lending transactions may involve the risk that the borrower may fail to return the securities lent out in a timely manner and the value of the collateral may fall below the value of the securities lent out.
