IMPORTANT: Investment involves risk, including the loss of principal. Investors should refer to the Prospectus and Key Facts Statement of Premia US Treasury Floating Rate ETF ("ETF") for details, including the risk factors. Investors should not base investment decisions on this material alone. Investors should note:

- The ETF aims to provide investment results that, before fees and expenses, closely correspond to the performance of Bloomberg US Treasury Floating Rate Bond Index.
- Concentration risk / U.S. market concentration risk - The ETF's investments are concentrated in a single country, namely the U.S. and in bonds of a single issuer. The ETF's value may be more volatile than that of a fund having a more diverse portfolio and may be more susceptible to adverse economic, political, policy, foreign exchange, liquidity, tax, legal or regulatory event affecting the U.S. market.
- Floating Rate Notes risk - Securities with floating rates can be less sensitive to interest rate changes than securities with fixed interest rates, but may decline in value and negatively impact the ETF's Net Asset Value, particularly if the coupon rates do not rise as much, or as quickly, as comparable market interest rates.
- Income risk - The ETF's income may decline when interest rates fall. This decline can occur because the debt instruments held by the ETF will have floating, or variable, interest rates.
- Differences in dealing arrangements between Listed Class of Units and Unlisted Class of Units Risk - Investors of the Listed Class of Units and the Unlisted Class of Units are subject to different pricing and dealing arrangements. The Net Asset Value per Unit of each of the Listed Class of Units and Unlisted Class of Units may be different due to the different fees and cost applicable to each class.
- Differences in fee and cost arrangements between Listed Class of Units and Unlisted Class of Units Risk - The levels and types of fees and costs applicable to each of the Listed Class of Units and the Unlisted Class of Units may differ. As such, the Net Asset Value per Unit of each of the Listed Class of Units and Unlisted Class of Units may also be different.
- Risk of limited issuance - The issuance of FRNs by the U.S. Treasury is relatively new and the amount of supply is limited. There is no guarantee or assurance that: (i) the ETF will be able to invest in a desired amount of FRNs, (ii) the ETF will be able to buy FRNs at a desirable price, (iii) FRNs will continue to be issued by the U.S. Treasury, or (iv) FRNs will be actively traded.
- Credit risk and sovereign debt risk - The financial condition of an issuer of a debt security or other instrument may cause such issuer to default, become unable to pay interest or principal due or otherwise fail to honor its obligations or cause such issuer to be perceived as being in such situations.
- Trading hours differences risk - As the trading platforms on which the Index constituents are traded may be open when Units in the ETF are not priced, the value of the Securities in the ETF's portfolio may change on days when investors will not be able to purchase or sell the ETF's Units.
- Difference in Distribution Policies - The Manager will pay distributions to Unitholders of the Distributing Unit Class but not to Unitholders of the Accumulating Unit Class. Distributions made in respect of the Distributing Unit Class may result in an immediate reduction in the Net Asset Value per Unit. All income and capital gain received in the Accumulating Unit Class will be reinvested and reflected in the Net Asset Value per Unit. The difference in the distribution policies of the two classes will lead to difference in the Net Asset Value between the two classes.

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

The ETF tracks the investment results, before fees and expenses, of the Bloomberg US Treasury Floating Rate Bond Index. There can be no assurance that the ETF will achieve its investment objective.
